

“Advancing integrative medicine and health through academic institutions and health systems.”

The Consortium is the organizational home for the major academic health centers and health systems in North America that have programs in integrative medicine and health.

“As an organization we are committed to sharing information and ideas, meeting challenges together in a process grounded by the values of integrative medicine, supporting member institutions, and providing a national voice for the advancement of integrative medicine and health.”

Consortium Core Values

- Evidence Informed
- Leadership
- Transformation
- Integrity
- Interprofessional
- Community

Consortium Goals

SUPPORT and mentor academic leaders, faculty and students to advance integrative healthcare curricula, research & clinical practice

DISSEMINATE rigorous scientific research outcomes, integrative health educational curricula and sustainable clinical care models

INFORM health care policy & practice

LEAD the effort to transform the health care system to one promoting integrative medicine and health for all.

The Consortium was founded in 1999 by 8 academic health centers including Duke University, Harvard University, Stanford University, University of California, San Francisco, University of Arizona, University of Maryland, University of Massachusetts, and the University of Minnesota. Now with 69 Institutional Members, the Consortium continues to grow and represents thousands of scientists, educators, clinicians and other health professionals who share an interest in the field of Integrative Medicine and Health.

For more information on the Consortium or to inquire about membership, please visit www.imconsortium.org