

CALL FOR INTEGRATIVE MEDICINE & HEALTH ASSOCIATE EDITORS

The Academic Consortium for Integrative Medicine & Health is seeking Associate Editors for its peer-reviewed scientific journal Global Advances in Health & Medicine.

Global Advances in Health & Medicine, the official journal of the Academic Consortium for Integrative Medicine & Health, is seeking Associate Editors to begin in early 2021. This appointment is for a 3-year term and reports to the Editor-in-Chief.

Associate Editors are expected to meet the following minimum qualifications: advanced degree (e.g., MD, PhD); publication record in academic journals; affiliation with an academic institution; and relevant expertise in integrative medicine (broadly defined). International researchers and physician researchers from underrepresented communities are encouraged to apply.

The expected duties of an Associate Editor are outlined here:

- Manage the peer review process (i.e., inviting and securing reviewers, submitting recommendations on submissions) for all manuscripts assigned to you by the Editors-in-Chief in a timely manner.
- Identify emerging areas of importance and actively solicit the best work being done in those areas (e.g, suggest topical Special Collections and Guest Editors).
- Contribute and/or recruit manuscripts for Global Advances in Health & Medicine.
- Attend quarterly editorial board meetings and bi-monthly editors meetings.
- Serve as an advocate for the Global Advances in Health & Medicine.

If interested, please submit a statement of interest/qualifications and CV to the Editor-in-Chief, Suzanne Danhauer PhD, (danhauer@wakehealth.edu) by 4/30/2021.
